This information sheet will help you complete the application for the Allowance or Allowance for the Survivor. The Allowance is a non-taxable monthly benefit paid to the spouse or common-law partner of someone who is receiving the Old Age Security pension and who qualifies for the Guaranteed Income Supplement. The Allowance for the Survivor is a non-taxable monthly benefit paid to a surviving spouse or common-law partner who has low income. Either benefit may be paid until you turn 65 years of age. It will then be replaced with an Old Age Security pension, if you qualify.

Qualifying for the Allowance or Allowance for the Survivor

To receive the Allowance or Allowance for the Survivor you must:

- be 60 to 64 years of age;
- have a legal status in Canada;
- meet the residence requirements;
- submit the necessary documents;
- complete and sign the application.

Also,

If you are applying for the Allowance, you must:

- be married to or living in a common-law relationship with someone who is receiving the Old Age Security pension and who qualifies for the Guaranteed Income Supplement; and
- not be separated from your spouse or common-law partner*.

If you are applying for the Allowance for the Survivor, you must:

- not have remarried or started living in a common-law relationship with a new partner; and
- not have been living apart from your common-law partner* at the time of death; and
- not have been divorced from your spouse at the time of death; and
- provide a statement of income. Please contact Service Canada to obtain the appropriate form.

A common-law partner is a person of the opposite or same sex who has been living with you in a conjugal relationship for at least one year.*

Social Security Agreements (Refer to question 13 on the application)

Canada has social security agreements with many countries that could help you meet the residence requirements to qualify. If you lived or worked in one or more of these countries, you may also qualify for benefits from these countries. It could also be the case if you are a surviving spouse or common-law partner and your deceased spouse or common-law partner lived or worked in another country. We will send you an application form if necessary.

When to Apply

You can apply no earlier than 11 months before your 60th birthday. If you have already reached age 60, send your application as soon as possible so you won't lose any payments.

Please note that we can pay your benefit back to a maximum of 11 months from the date we receive your application, but no earlier than the month after your 60th birthday.

Unable to Apply

If, due to a medical condition, you were unable to apply earlier or to ask someone to apply on your behalf, please contact us to obtain a form called "Declaration of Incapacity". If you meet all of the eligibility requirements, filling out and returning this form may allow you to receive your pension with an earlier start date.

Payment Outside of Canada

You can receive the Allowance or Allowance for the Survivor while you are outside of Canada, but only for 6 months after your departure. After that, your payments will be stopped and you will have to reapply if you return to live in Canada.

Documents Required

Unless stated on this application, you do not need to provide proof when applying. However, Service Canada may contact you later to ask for more information or documents.

Proof of Death (Refer to question 9b on the application)

If you are a surviving spouse or common-law partner, you need to provide proof of death for your deceased spouse or common-law partner. A certified photocopy of an official death certificate or other government issued document confirming the date of death is preferred. Please contact us to find out what other documents may be accepted.

Proof of Canadian Legal Status (Refer to question 10 on the application)

To be eligible for the Allowance, you must have legal status in Canada as well as meeting the residence requirement. You are considered to have legal status if you are a Canadian Citizen, a permanent resident (formerly known as Landed Immigrant) or you hold a Temporary Resident's permit (formerly known as a Minister's Permit) on the day before your application is approved or the day you left Canada, if you left within the last 6 months.

If you were born in Canada and have lived in Canada all your life, you do not need to prove your legal status.

If you were born in Canada and became a citizen of another country before February 15, 1977, you may have given up your Canadian citizenship. If you are not sure what your status is, please contact a Citizenship and Immigration office.

If you were born outside of Canada, a certified photocopy of one of the following documents is usually sufficient to confirm your Canadian citizenship or legal status:

- Canadian Citizen - Certificate of Canadian citizenship, naturalization certificate, or Canadian passport issued in 1970 or later;
- Permanent Resident (formerly known as Landed Immigrant) - Canadian immigration documents (for example IMM1000 - Record of Landing or Permanent Resident Card) or Canadian immigration stamp on your passport;
- Resident under a Temporary Resident's Permit (formerly known as a Minister's Permit) - Temporary Resident's Permit.

Proof of Residence History (Refer to question 12 on the application)

If you have not lived in Canada all your life, you must send us certified photocopies of documents that prove your history of residence in Canada. You can use the following documents to prove when you entered, departed or returned to Canada:

- passports;
- immigration records (such as visas);
- customs declarations; or
- other approved documents that can prove your history of residence in Canada.

Immigration Documents: Legal Status / Residence History

If you no longer have your original immigration documents, Service Canada may be able to obtain information from Citizenship and Immigration Canada on your behalf. In order for Service Canada to obtain this information, you must complete, sign and return the Consent to Exchange Information with Citizenship and Immigration Canada (SC ISP3210) with your OAS application. Please visit our internet site at: www.servicecanada.gc.ca or call us to obtain the form.

Certified Photocopies of Original Documents

When you send us documents, we suggest you send certified photocopies rather than the original documents, if possible. This will ensure the original documents stay with you in case you need them for other purposes. If you must send your original documents, we suggest you send them by registered mail. We will return all the original documents to you.

We can only accept a photocopy of an original document if it is readable and if you have someone certify that it is a true copy of the original. If you bring your original documents to any Service Canada Centre, our staff will photocopy the documents and certify them for free. If you cannot visit a Service Canada Centre, you can ask a member of one of the following professions to certify your photocopy:

- Accountant
- Chief of First Nations Band
- Commissioner for Oaths
- Employee of a Service Canada Centre acting in an official capacity
- Funeral Director

- Official of an Embassy, Consulate or High Commission
- Official of a country with which Canada has a reciprocal Social Security Agreement
- Police Officer
- Professional Engineer

People who certify photocopies must compare the original document to the photocopy, state their official position or title, sign and print their name, give their telephone number and indicate the date they certified the document. They also must write the following statement on the photocopy:

This photocopy is a true copy of the original document which has not been altered in any way.

Note: If your photocopy is missing any of the above elements, it will not be accepted and you will have to submit a new, properly certified photocopy, which will result in delays in processing your application.

If an original document has information on both sides, both sides must be photocopied and certified.

You cannot certify photocopies of your own documents and you cannot ask a relative to do it for you.

Please write the Client Identification Number or Social Insurance Number on any document or photocopy that you send us.
